2. General information: description of the information contained in the Fair Processing Notice

In this Fair Processing Notice you will find tables identifying each of the different processing's carried out by Hughes Insurance.

These informative tables will detail:

- The purposes of the processing of your personal data, i.e., the reason why Hughes Insurance processes your personal data.
- The legal basis that allows the processing of data by the Hughes Insurance for each of the purposes indicated.
- The possible communication of your data to third parties, as well as the reason for such communication. To this end, we inform you that we do not transfer your personal data to third parties except where there is a legal obligation to do so (Tax Authorities, Judges and Courts, Governmental bodies, PSNI, etc.), or for communicating them to other companies of the Liberty Mutual Group for managing internal administration and managing recruiting processes, never for commercial purposes, or when expressly indicated in the table below. On the other hand, Hughes Insurance data processors may also have access to your personal data, i.e. service providers that have access to your personal data for the performance of their services. The service providers who will have access to your personal data would be, in general, information system service providers, technological and telecommunication service providers, cloud computing and network security service providers, human resources management service providers, fraud prevention service providers, as well as social network service providers. The table below will indicate those other areas for which Hughes Insurance service providers may have access to your personal data. You can request more detailed information about the recipients of your data by sending an e-mail to dataprotection@hughesinsurance.co.uk, indicating the specific processing activity about whose recipients you would like information.
- The existence of potential international data transfers. For these purposes, much of our processing activities require the transfer of data internationally to technological service providers or entities of the group to which Hughes Insurance belongs, located in the European Union and United States of America (USA), for which the UK Addendum to the pertinent Standard Contractual Clauses or the UK International data transfer (IDTA) apply, or the recipient country is recognized as providing adequate safeguards, including Adequacy Decisions, by the ICO. You can request more detailed information regarding the international transfers of your data or the guarantees applied by sending an e-mail to dataprotection@hughesinsurance.co.uk, indicating the specific processing activity about which you would like to receive information regarding the guarantees applying.

- The retention period of the data you provide us with. For this purpose, we keep your personal data for the time necessary for the purposes for which they were collected, namely one or three years depending on the success of the recruiting process. Subsequently, your data will remain blocked during the prescription periods of the legal actions determined by the applicable regulations. You can request more detailed information regarding our data retention notice by sending an e-mail to dataprotection@hughesinsurance.co.uk, indicating the specific processing activity about which you would like to receive information on its retention.

3. Necessary, up-to-date and accurate information

Hughes Insurance will process personal data, including sensitive data such as health data, in those cases established by law, provided directly by the interested party or obtained by other lawful means. Data may be received from third parties, such as recruitment companies, professional networks such as LinkedIn, people or other entities recommending the candidate.

The personal data processed can be found among the non-exhaustive list of the following categories: identification data, nationality, date and place of birth, degree of disability, incapacity, work skills, bank account information, personal, professional and emergency contact details, address data, data relating to professional experience, training or similar (e.g. CV, references, ...), and data relating to the prevention of money laundering and criminal records, if required by the vacancy. Job title and location, division, department, grade, working hours, absenteeism (other than sickness), assigned tasks and projects, supervisor's identity, business travel, training and talent management information. Performance assessments and reviews (including employee profile), disciplinary measures and procedures, details of grievances and complaints and information on the consequences thereof, date of starting and termination, entry and exit interview, and other similar data. Base salary, incentives, commissions and bonuses, benefits (including information about you and your dependents or beneficiaries) and accrued salary information. Information may be provided directly by the job applicant or generated in the course of the recruitment process, including voice and/or image, and information relating to the use of devices such as equipment, systems and other company resources.

One of the reasons for processing your data is to allow us to carry out an effective recruitment process. Whilst you are under no obligation to provide us with your data, we may not be able to process, or continue with (as appropriate), your application. Likewise, by fulfilling and sending the required information, you declare that the information and data you have provided is accurate and true.

To ensure that the information provided is always up to date and does not contain errors, you must inform Hughes Insurance, as soon as possible, of any modifications and amendments to your personal data that may occur by sending an email to dataprotection@hughesinsurance.co.uk or contacting Hughes Talent Team through the contact points set up for job applicants in each office.

4. Data Subject rights exercise

You can exercise the following rights:
